

Progressing with PACE:

What's been achieved by the Permanence & Care Excellence (PACE) programme so far...

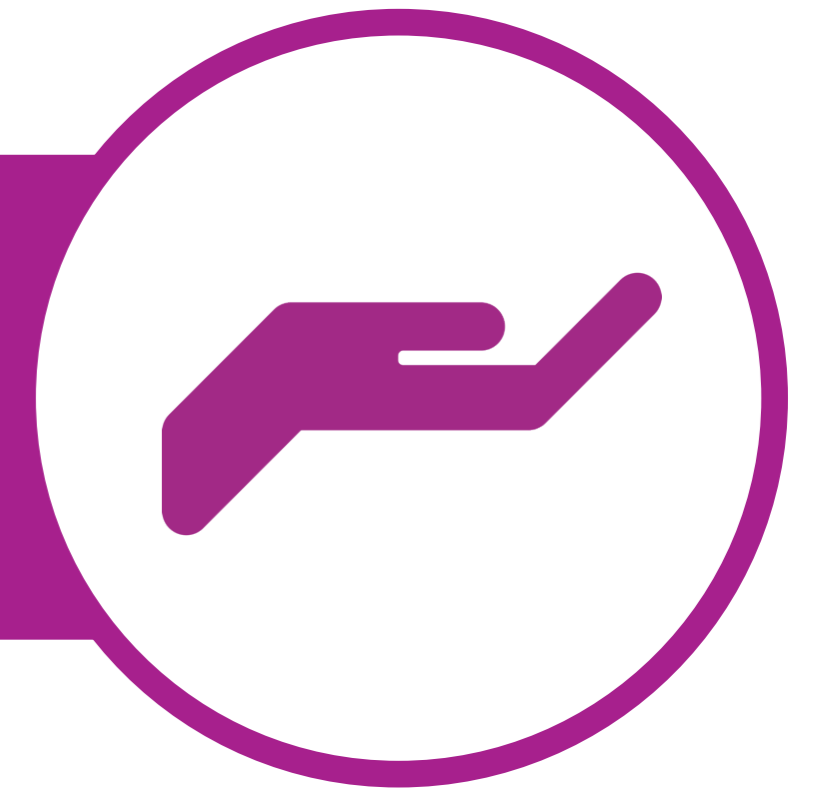

Creation of communities of staff working as a whole system in 22 local authority and HSCP areas

Seven local authority and HSCP areas are using the child's timeline to illustrate permanence journeys and influence decision makers

100% of PACE sites use Quality Improvement methodology to drive improvement

We will offer PACE to the remaining 10 local authority and HSCP areas by December 2018

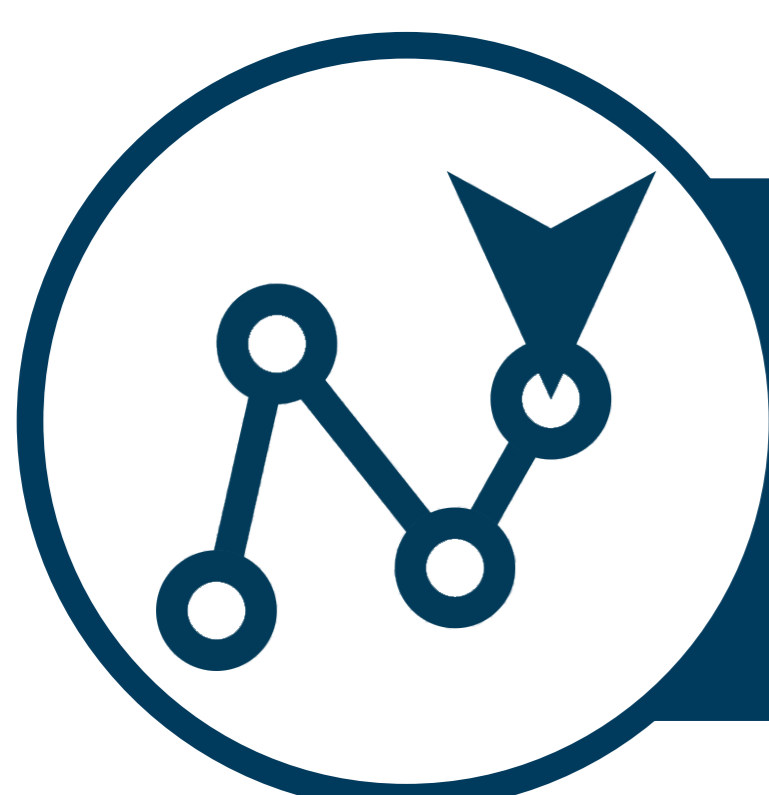

Reduction by over half the time it takes to make permanence recommendations for children in two local authority and HSCP areas to 28 weeks

Four local authority and HSCP areas have introduced a looked after review within two weeks of a child becoming looked after and accommodated

We are setting the standard for robust practice to deliver permanence for children against timely milestones

Data in a number of local authority and HSCP areas now captures returning home or kinship placement on a permanence recommendation for children

22 local authority and HSCP areas are using data to understand their children's journeys and evidence improvement

Data trackers in several local authority and HSCP areas are tracking 100% of looked after children, to drive planning and catch drift and delay for children early

A number of local authority and HSCP areas are recognising the value of acquiring legal advice before permanency planning looked after review

Improvements to services currently engaged in PACE could impact on the lives of 9,000 looked after children in Scotland

In two local authority and HSCP areas, 100% of children have a recommendation for permanence in seven and a half months or less

Five local authority and HSCP areas have four specific aims that cover looked after children's whole journeys, and we are working to ensure all PACE sites have four aims
